

Figure 1: The Type-T structure of a ring signature as defined by the generic AOS ring signatures schemes [?]. In the figure, H corresponds to a collision-resistant hash function, v is a cryptographic commitment function and the r_i s and pk_i s for $1 \leq i \leq n$ are unique randomness inputs and public keys respectively.